Instalment Credit Business Will Be Gov't.-Controlled

Roosevelt Order Made Under World War Law Late Yesterday

Washington, Aug. 12.—(AP) — Easy payment plans felt the impact of defense requirements today, as the administration acted to curb the nation's $10,000,000,000 instalment credit business.

The announced purpose of the curb was two-fold:

To discourage consumers from buying many things containing materials that otherwise would be conserved for defense production needs; and

To counteract inflationary tendencies that arise when the demand for certain goods is greater than the supply.

President Roosevelt, in an executive order issued late yesterday, directed that the control system be set up to regulate the huge credit business now being transacted through the country's banks, stores and personal finance companies.

The order instructed the Federal Reserve System to formulate and administer the regulations under a World war statute which carries criminal penalties as high as 10 years imprisonment and $10,000 fine, for violations.

There was no immediate indication of what the rules would be, but Roosevelt specifically authorized such measures as requiring down-payments where they are not required; requiring bigger down-payments, and reducing the length of time such payments may run.

Old Contracts Unchanged

Credit contracts already existing or entered into before the new regulations become effective will not be subject to the new control system.

The president held that the regulations were necessary to curtail the present use of instalment credit for purchase of "consumers' durable goods."

Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board said this meant "automobiles, washing machines, refrigerators, ironers, vacuum cleaners and many other goods."

Eccles did not specify the complete range of products whose purchase on credit would be affected and avoided any details on the code of regulations that would be adopted, explaining it would take several days to work this out.

The new control system, it was emphasized, would not affect those who can afford to pay cash, but would extend generally to merchandise and small loan businesses now representing the use of some $10,000,000,000 in credit.

New Homes Excepted

The only announced exception was credit for the purchase or construction of new homes. Loans of this type will not be subject to regulation, Eccles said, but loans to finance repairs on existing houses may be regulated. Some other types of credits may be exempted.

Once the regulations have been issued, it will be unlawful for anyone to sell the items specified on any credit terms except those specified by the Federal Reserve Board.

While credit purchase of goods apparently would feel the big ef-

New Grease Job

Copeville, Tex., Aug. 12—(AP)—Texas farmers who have cattle and oil and flies are getting rid of the flies.

George Longely led the way with a cow-de flier that works thus:

Rock salt and other minerals are placed in a wire enclosure. Gunny sacks, dripping in crankcase oil, hang on the wire.

When the cows duck under to get salt, they get oily. Flies don't go for oil.

Now when the cattle feel the flies attacking, animals march up to the triangle and get themselves a new grease job.

Two of Fugitives from Ogle Bastile Reported Caught

Daniel Dyer, 19-year-old Chicago negro, who was one of the six prisoners who escaped from the Ogle county jail early Monday morning, was taken in custody at his home in Chicago shortly before noon today. The Chicago detective bureau notified Sheriff James White at Oregon about 12:30 that Dyer was being held and a deputy was immediately dispatched to return him to the Ogle county jail. Dyer, a former CCC camp worker at Stockton, had been held to the Ogle county grand jury on a malicious mischief charge in an attempt to wreck a railroad train by piling ties across the rails.

Paul Heintz, 23, of Mendota, who was held to the grand jury on a larceny charge and was said to have previously attempted a jail break at the Rochelle city jail, was the first of the escaped prisoners to be apprehended.

Found In Closet

He was rescued from a locked clothes closet in a rooming house, by Deputy Sheriff William Beman, who had been detailed by Sheriff White to watch the rooming house in which the prisoner's wife was said to have taken a room recently. Deputy Beman related that Heintz had stated that his wife had locked him in the clothes closet when he appeared at her room shortly after the jail break early Monday morning. Heintz explained, the deputy said, that she had intended to release him from the closet after purchasing tickets for Rockford but was thwarted from so doing by the

Aurora 'Cement Block' Killer Dies in Prison

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 12—(AP)—When Warren J. Lincoln died yesterday in the Joliet penitentiary hospital, the final chapter was written in a crime-tragedy that was the sensation of Illinois more than 15 years ago.

Lincoln, former Aurora lawyer and Horticulturist, received a life sentence in 1925 after his conviction on a charge of murdering his wife and brother-in-law and burning their bodies in a furnace.

During the widely-publicized trial it was revealed that he had imbedded the heads of his victims in a block of concrete which he used for a time as a step in the greenhouse he operated.

Sublette Mothers' Club Will Sponsor Dance

The Sublette Mothers' Club—an organization of eight Sublette women who have sons in the United States Army—has extended an invitation to all Dixon people to attend a program and dance at the Sublette Community hall at 8 o'clock Thursday evening for the benefit of the United Service Organizations, the proceeds of the event to be donated toward Dixon's quota in the USO fund—$1,800. Mayor W. V. Slothower is arranging to have the city officially represented at the affair and hopes many Dixon and Lee county people will attend. Admission fee will be 25 cents or over.

15 Pct. Lease-Lend Tax in Addition to All Others Proposed

Sen. Nye Says Such Levy Would Bring Cost of Program Home

Washington, Aug. 12—(AP) — Chairman George (D-Ga) of the senate finance committee voiced the opinion today that the committee would vote to reduce personal income tax exemptions to $750 for single persons and $1,500 for married couples, as recommended by the treasury.

Present exemptions allow $800 for single person and $2,000 for those who are married.

George also said he expected "some readjustment of personal income tax rates" to be made by the committee before it finishes its work on the new $3,236,700,000 tax program already approved by the house. He did not particularize, however.

As the committee convened to hear a new group of witnesses testify on specific sections of the measure, Senator Nye (R-ND) suggested that the present 10 per cent defense tax be matched by a 15 per cent lease-lend supertax to help meet the costs of British aid.

Nye proposed that an additional line be inserted in the federal individual income tax return upon which the taxpayer would compute 15 per cent of his regular tax and add that amount to the total bill.

Would Show People Cost

"That would drive home to the people", he said, "the knowledge—and to many that would be the first knowledge that they had—that the lend-lease program is costing them money".

Few legislators, however, thought Nye would get very far with his idea.

While committee members discussed possible methods of boosting the amount of revenue to be raised by the pending bill, George minimized the likelihood of a general sales tax as was advocated by some witnesses.

"I don't see any chance'", he said, "of going to a general sales tax, although some members of the committee favor it".

Predicting that senate changes would bring the revenue yield from the bill to an amount in excess of $3,500,000,000, George said the treosury's goal of two-thirds taxation and one-third borrowing to meet federal costs was put forward at a time when anticipated expenditures were lower than is now expected. The treasury has said that revenues expected from the present bill would be insufficient for the financing on that scale, and has suggested a $5,000,000,000 tax measure.

Kotmk Planes Reported Violating Almatian Frontier; Warfare Nears

Alexandria, La., Aug. 12—(AP)—The Army wants everyone—citizens as well as soldiers—to pretend that a real war in in progress when a half million men start the nation's greatest peacetime battle maneuvers in this area next month.

So the propaganda staff has invented two countries—Almat under President Oosenay, and Kotmk under Premier Kodunkis—and a long list of Almat-Kotmk hates and grievances which read like the latest dispatches from Europe.

Army sources hope "that this fiction will make the maneuvers more realistic to the officers and men who participate in them and to the public that reads about the combats".

President Oosenay's Almat is composed of the states of Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee, while Premier Kodunkis of Kotmk (pronounced Kotmik) bosses Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri and Kentucky.

The trouble springs from the war of 1918 in which Almat beat Kotmk and annexed the states of Arkansas and Louisiana, thus gaining control of New Orleans and Mississippi river shipping.

Since the war, Almat has dawdled in economic and political confusion while Kotmk, regaining strength, has built a strong army.

At the moment, Premier Kodunkis has withdrawn from negotiations concerning Oklahoma oil shipments on the river and is massing his soldiers along the border.

Border incidents are reported in the newspapers and several Kotmk planes are said to have violated the Almatian frontier.

Forreston Stock Man Near Death Under Fast Train

(Telegraph Special Service)

Forreston, Aug. 12—Adolph Dahlscheim, 48, Forreston livestock dealer, narrowly escaped death when a light pick-up truck he was driving was struck by the Milwaukee railroad's streamlined eastbound passenger train "Hiawatha" at a crossing one half a mile east of Harper (which is two miles west of Forreston) at 7:00 o'clock Monday evening, and he is now a patient at St. Frances hospital in Freeport, where this afternoon his condition was pronounced "fair." The hospital reported Dahlscheim had suffered two fractured ribs and a punctured lung, in addition to shock.

Almost In Clear

The truck had almost cleared the crossing, it is said, when the train, traveling at a reported speed of 90 miles an hour, struck it. Fortunately Dahlscheim was thrown away from the train, the truck being torn to pieces and strewn along the right-of-way for a distance of almost a mile before the fast train could be brought to a stop. The locomotive of the "Hiawatha" was so badly damaged by the collision that it could not exceed 35 miles an hour on the remainder of the trip to Chicago.

Leaders in House Press for Vote on Service Extension

Hope to Secure Call of Roll Before Quitting Work for Today

BULLETIN

Washington, Aug. 12—(AP)—The house defeated today an attempt to put extended military service on a voluntary rather than a compulsory basis.

The attempt, to provide that selectees could volunteer for a second year of training, was joined to a provision for eliminating a declaration that the nation interest was imperiled.

The dual proposal, advanced by Republicans through Representative Short of Missouri, was rejected on a teller vote announced as 185 to 146.

It was the first test of strength on the measure as all factions strove for final votes before the end of the day.

Washington, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Rep. Thomason (D-Tex) called on the house today to extend the service of the nation's citizen soldiers because, he said, on the basis of expert military opinion Adolf Hitler is "going to take Russia" and then England will be "next on the list."

"Brave old England," Thomason said amid applause, "I hope she stands but there's not a man on this floor who doesn't know if she falls who will be next on Hitler's list."

Germany has 260 seasoned divisions in the field with 40 more in training which will be ready for service this fall, he said, adding:

"Our army has 33 divisions and untrained."

While explaining he could not reveal information that had been given to the military committee in executive session, Thomason said there were more than 200 German schools in Argentina, 1,200,000 Germans in Brazil, many of them active in organized propaganda groups, and declared that Germans also had numerous air bases in Latin America, some of them "within striking distance of the Panama canal."

Andrews Appeals to GOP

Rep. Andrews (R-NY), ranking minority member of the military committee, directed his remarks repeatedly to "the members on my side" as he urged a vote for retention of selectees "as the soundest course for security of our country and its future." Democrats generally applauded his remarks, but only four or five of his party members applauded.

Rep., Wadsworth (R-NY), a coauthor of the original selective service act, urging retention, reviewed world conditions and appealed to the house to "make the decision for the safety of the United States." He was given a standing ovation when he completed

"Our army is just beginning to get good," he said, contending that release of 640,000 selectees in groups from time to time would "smash team after team" in virtually every National Guard and regular division He said armies today were teams, starting down at

For Economy

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 12—(AP) — Orange paint as a recipe for economy in operation of state-owned automobiles is being tested at the state highway garages.

Officials explained today that 2,000 passenger cars operated by various state agencies are being painted in brilliant orange, on the theory that state employes will hesitate to drive them on any except official business.

The office of Fred Emich, state superintendent of Machinery, reported the conspicuous color was being applied only on machines needing repainting anyway.

Pro-Nazi Darlan Elevated to High Office in France

BULLETIN

Vichy, Unoccupied France, Aug. 12—(AP)—Marshal Petain, the French Chief of State, committed himself to full collaboration with Germany in a radio address to the nation tonight, a few hours after his vice premier, Admiral Jean Darlan, had been given supreme military powers in the Vichy regime.

Vichy, Unoccupied France, Aug. 12—(AP)—Vice-Premier Admiral Jean Darlan was named minister of national defense today in a reorganization of the French cabinet which concentrated all military powers in his hands.

A decree published in a special edition of the official Journal gave Darlan greater powers than any person or combination of persons in France except Chief of State Marshal Petain himself.

Darlan, who on June 10 called for "loyal" collaboration with Germany and who has publicly attacked Britain's war role since the fall of France, was placed in charge of the following by today's decree:

1. General organization of national defense.
2. Distribution and use of the armed forces.
3. General inspection of the armed forces.

The clue to the concentration of powers was seen in statements when such a measure first was hinted that Darlan would thus have his hands free to conduct negotiations with Germany for collaboration.

Extension of Collaboration

The German-controlled Paris press has been insistent lately that collaboration include military as well as political and economic matters, and has urged that such cooperation especially be extended to cover the defense of Dakar on the western "hump" of Africa

Wrecked Oil Tank Car Still Burning

While the main line NorthWestern tracks west of the passenger station had been repaired sufficiently to permit the moving of trains under slow orders, railroad officials continued their investigations today of the wreck of Saturday evening in which about 25 cars of a west bound extra freight train were either destroyed or badly damaged. The fire department was called back to the scene last evening and worked for three hours on the overturned oil tank car which continued to burn. The department was called back again this morning.

Last evening a local marksman was called into action with a high powered large caliber rifle, and a hole was shot into the tank to permit the remaining oil to escape. The hole was soon plugged on the order of the railway fire chief. A dike was thrown up around the tank to prevent the burning oil from flowing along the right of way and endanger other property.

Fire Chief Sam Cramer stated today that he had been informed that the wrecked tank car contained 8,640 gallons of gasoline.

Soviet Army in South in Plight London Reports

The War Today!

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
(Telegraph Special Service)

There is little doubt that Japan is seriously considering the expediency of attacking Russia in Siberia, on the basis that this would be less likely to draw armed intervention by the United States than would an attempt at expansion southward from the powerful new Japanese base in French Indo-China.

Fear of the United States, rather than of preoccupied Britain, has been the chief deterrent to Japanese action thus far. This reluctance to antagonize Uncle Sam into drawing his shooting irons could hardly have been otherwise than strengthened by the remarkable warning which Kaname Wakasuci, Japanese minister to Washington, gave his people yesterday.

Wakasugi, who was at Los Angeles en route to Tokyo, declared in trans-pacific telephone interview that "the United States is prepared and determined to meet the worst eventualities." On the face of it, the minister's statement seemed calculated to have a restraining influence.

However, while Nippon definitely doesn't want to measure strength with us, she is playing an opportunist game quite openly. A quick swing of fortune toward the axis in the European war might impel her to risk American anger, though there is reason to hope that things may not reach such a pass.

The Russo-German conflict is the gauge most likely to give us an accurate indication of the danger in the Far Eastern crisis. A big German break through the Red defenses might set the Japanese war-machine to rolling across the Manchuokuoan border against the Bolshevists.

For this reason the present Hitlerian gains against the Red flanks, especially in the Ukraine, must be regarded as strong encouragement to the Japanese to capitalize the position. In this sense the imbroglio in the Orient is pivoting on the defense of the Communist Chief Stalin and his stout men-at-arms.

The Bolshevists continue a fierce resistance in this eighth bloody week of the war. Still I think we are warranted in concluding that there has been a gradual weakening of the Russian line—not numerically but in the power of defense. We may have a clue to the meaning of this in the nazi claim that while the Reds are throwing unlimited reserves into the fighting, the resistance has lessened.

If this is true, it would seem to indicate that the reserves include many men who either are not well trained or have passed their youth and lack the stamina for the task at hand. One suspects that lack of thoroughly trained troops may be the chief difficulty, since the soviet reserve in man-power is vast.

The third phase of the German invasion has developed into an operation of fast movement again in some sectors, especially in the more open Ukraine. The strain of this blitzkrieg warfare is so terrific that only a highly trained soldier who is absolutely fit physically can stand up under it.

One hastens to add that there is no intention of drawing a picture of impending catastrophe for the Russians. However, the Germans seem to be headed for a very sizeable victory in the Ukraine, and perhaps at Leningrad.

That should come as no surprise to regular readers of this column, since we have discussed the probability often enough. We also have considered the likelihood

Far East Crisis Becoming More Critical

(By The Associated Press)

German military dispatches pictured Russia's big Black sea port of Odessa as doomed to quick surrender today, with nazi troops storming down both sides of the Bug river and Red army forces desperately attempting to escape by sea.

DNB, the official German news agency, reported German bombers already had sunk six troop-laden Russian transports off the Ukraine coast near Odessa.

The Germans declared inland avenues of escape from both Odessa and Ochakov, farther east, had been virtually cut off.

Nazi military quarters late today said that flying units of Hitler's panzer divisions had driven to the Black sea at several points—presumably near Ochakov, 40 miles east of Odessa—thus partly isolating Red army units cornered in the west. Two generals of the 12th and 13th soviet armies were reported to have been captured.

RAF Keeps Pledge

In the war in the air, RAF warplanes began to carry out a pledge to turn Germany's cities into "burning hells" with a violent, large-scale daylight assault on the Rhineland city of Cologne.

British sources said the attack was possibly the heaviest day raid yet made on Germany, with several squadrons of blenheims spilling large cargoes of bombs on the industrial center.

Cologne is the third largest city in the reich, with a population of about 750,000.

Advices reaching London further emphasized the critical plight of soviet Marshal Semeon Budyenny's Army of the South, reporting that Adolf Hitler had thrown perhaps 1,000,000 troops into the Ukraine conflict and that German armored forces had advanced within 40 miles of the big grain and ship building port of Nikolaev, about 65 miles east of Odessa.

Authoritative London quarters said the main German onslaught was developing from the Uman sector, midway between Odessa and Kiev, where the nazis last week reported the slaughter of 200,000 Red army troops.

Advance Called "Impetuous"

DNB described the German advance as "impetuous", with swift-striking panzer columns throwing a gigantic net around Odessa, main base of the Russian Black Sea fleet.

Battle maps issued in Berlin showed the nazi push forming a huge bulge deep into the southern

Wife and Baby of Soldier Shot by Frequent Visitor

Mt. Vernon, Ill., Aug. 12—(AP) Coroner Ben Roeder said a railroad car shop worker shot a woman, critically wounded her 16-months-old daughter and then committed suicide with a shotgun at a farm home 11 miles west of this city early today.

Krekel Gary Pigg, about 29, fired a blast through the screen door at the home of Mrs. Margarete Harvey, 25, wounding the woman and her daughter and then shot himself in the throat in the yard, the coroner said. He was instantly killed.

Mrs. Harvey was running from the door with the baby in her arms when the charge from the gun tore through the screen and she was struck in the back at the left shoulder. Several pellets entered the face of her daughter Judith, and an attending physician said the condition of the infant was much more serious than that of her mother. Both are in a hospital here.

Coroner Roeder said his investigation disclosed that Pigg had been a frequent visitor at the home of Mrs. Harvey, whose husband is a soldier. He said the motive for the shooting her not been determined.

Pigg borrowed the gun from a friend last night on the pretense of wanting to go squirrel hunting. His car was found about 100 yards from the Harvey home after the shooting.

An inquest in his death was scheduled late today.

Mr. Driscoll, Clerk in TNT Factory, Reaps Harvest Through Born Knack

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 12—(AP)—W. E. Driscoll is the man who keeps swarms of bees from attacking the government's TNT plant near here.

It seems that when farmers moved last winter from the site of the Kankakee ordnance works, they left their bees behind.

And noise attracts bees. Rattle a couple of pie tins together, says Driscoll, and a few bees are certain to buzz right over. But if you operate an air-hammer or other noisy machines, the insects are apt to swarm in clouds.

When carpenters and mechanics constructing the vast TNT plant are attacked by bees, they stop work and put in a hurry up call to the guardhouse where Driscoll is on the payroll as an equipment clerk. An apiarist by profession, Driscoll puts on a veil and gloves and hurries right over.

So far Driscoll has captured 15 colonies of honey bees in the heavy construction area. He knows where there are seven more colonies in trees and where three colonies have blitzed their way into possession of sentry boxes.

"You have to be born with the knack of catching bees", Driscoll said today. He locates the queen bee and soon has a new swarm, a good half bushel of bees, to take home to his expanding collection of hives.

Farm Accounts to Be Studied at Meeting

Persons cooperating in the farm account book project of the Ogle County Farm Bureau have been invited to attend a meeting at the Farm Bureau office tomorrow evening, August 13 at 8 o'clock bringing their farm account books with them. They will be given assistance in checking their books up to date and getting items properly recorded. Any persons interested in keeping farm accounts are welcome to attend the meeting according to Farm Advisers D. E. Warren, who will be in charge.

Almost 300 lieutenants at Randolph Field, Texas, assigned as instructors to student flyers, average approximately 600 hours of flying time annually.

Farmers Preview Changes Expected in Government Program for 1942

With Lee county farmers nearing the end of the 1941 crop year, Dale D. Rosenkrans, county AAA chairman, today previewed the changes that 1942 is expected to bring in the government farm program.

The most important change contemplated would eliminate total soil-depleting allotments, which now control the acreage planted to oats, soybeans and other general crops, and substitute for them special crop allotments covering certain feed grains in surplus areas—oats, barley, rye, grain sorghums and corn (outside the commercial corn area). There will be no allotments for commercial vegetables.

Under the 1942 AAA program Mr. Rosenkrans said, farmers will be able to earn two types of payments: (1) a payment for carrying out approved soil-building practices, and (2) a payment for planting within special crop allotments. At present, special crop allotments are provided only for corn, wheat, cotton, rice, tobacco, peanuts and potatoes.

The feed grain allotment is being provided to stabilize such crops in 1942. Mr. Rosenkrans pointed out that the present supply of these feed grains is ample to meet whatever feed demands will come as a result of expansion in the livestock industry. By planting in accordance with the demand for feed crops, farmers will be making more efficient use of their soil, will be able to release much more needed storage for surplus crops, and be better able to produce other crops especially needed in the defense program, Mr. Rosenkrans said.

Soil-building rates in 1942 will be approximately the same as in 1941, according to the county AAA chairman. A soil-building allowance is established for each farm on the basis of such factors as the farm's cropland, non-crop pastureland, commercial vegetables and commercial orchards. The participating farmer may earn his farm's allowance by carrying out approved soil building practices.

The minimum payment which may be earned on any farm is $20.000, not including a special allowance of $15.00 which farmers may earn by planting forest trees. Rates for compliance with the special crop allotments is contingent upon Congressional appropriation and will be announced later. Under the 1942 program, the farm's soil building allowance will be completed on the basis of the following rates:

70 cents per acre of cropland not included in special crop allotments for the farm in areas where feed grain allotments are not established. 50 cents per acre of cropland not included in special crop allotments for the farm in areas where feed grain allotments are established. In 1941, the 70-cent rate applies only to areas generally deficient in feed, and the 50-cent rate is available in surplus feed areas.

Rates of non-crop pasture land, which will be the same as those used under the 1941 program, vary by areas.

$2 per acre of orchards, except for any orchard land included in cropland, for which the rate will be $1.30 per acre. In 1941, the rate for orchards is $1.80 per acre.

$1 per acre of commercial vegetables normally grown on the farm. The vegetable rate is $1.30 per acre in 1941 but is applicable to a smaller acreage than in 1942.

50 cents per acre of restoration land, in 1941, the soil-building allowance on restoration land is 45 cents per acre, but the additional payment of 15 cents per acre made on such land in 1941 will not be continued in 1942.

Earl Senneff Selects Name for Dairy Herd

"Greenslope" is the newly selected herd prefix name which will be used by Earl Senneff, Dixon, in registering his purebred dairy cattle.

Exclusive use of this trademark for identifying his herd has been certified by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, Brattleboro, Vermont.

More than 3,000,000 Holsteins have been registered in the United States. Registration rules specify that no two Holsteins of the same sex may have the same name. To simplify naming, and herd identification as well, more than 12,000 prefix names have been reserved by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America for the breeders.

Lee County Cattle Are Top Sellers

Lee county cattle were top sellers on the Tuesday market of the Chicago stock yards last week. Ed Latt of Franklin Grove received $11.75 per cwt. for a drove of 859 Hereford steers and the same price for a number of heifers that averaged 690 pounds each, both top sales for cattle of their weight and class.

Hog prices made further gains on the Tuesday market at Chicago, the extreme top reaching $11.65 per cwt., a new 45 month peak, and 15 cents above the previous high. Prices for the day's session averaged the highest to date, at $11.00 per cwt.

Automobile manufacturers are far ahead of schedule in production of .50 and .30 caliber machine guns.

Illinois Farmers Use More Limstone Than Used in Other States

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 12—(AP) Illinois farmers used more agricultural limestone on their farm soil last year than farmers in any other state, the National Lime association has reported.

Illinois used 2,365,663 tons of limestone, compared with 1,444,835 for Kentucky, the second heaviest user.

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

Ten years ago, in one of these Weekly Letters, my father wrote, "The day will come when poultry will be raised the year around here in the Middle West."

A friend of mine told me privately that I "ought not to let the boss make such ridiculous statements."

I thought about that the other day when a man out in Iowa showed me the figures on four lots of chickens he has put through his houses this last year. He has four brooder houses and they have never been empty.

The net profit on four lots—1600 chicks each—was $925.24.

This was after charging off depreciation on the equipment. The average profit per bird was just under 15 cents. That's a good percentage of profit, but if you had only 200 chickens it wouldn't add up to much. However, he had 6400. And that's when it begins to count!

One of the most remarkable things about his record is the number of chicks he raised out of each bunch:

Out of the 1st 1600 he sold 1574.

Out of the 2nd 1600 he sold 1596.

Out of the 3rd 1600 he sold 1580..

Out of the 4th 1600 he sold 1575.

I don't think there's a poultry raiser in the Middle West who wouldn't take off his hat to this farmer for the consistently fine job he's done.

Year-Around Production Grows

He isn't the only farmer who is putting poultry production on a year-around, business-like basis. Not by any means.

There are a bunch of farmers out in Kansas who are doing it; another bunch down in Indiana; some in Missouri and Illinois; and a good many in Iowa.

As you drive out of Iowa City on the road to Davenport, you see a row of 20 chicken houses. They are combination brooder and range houses, which are becoming increasingly popular in the Middle West. Each one of them holds 250 chicks. So that farmer can raise 5000 chickens at a crack. He put in the first ones last January and he has his third bunch in the house now.

Open-Air Houses

Incidentally, one of the other things my father often used to say was, "If we could knock the walls out of every chicken house in this section of the country during the summer, the chickens would be a lot better off."

And the last time I saw this farmer out at Iowa City, that's exactly what he was doing—knocking out the walls! The ends of these combination houses are removable, which is one of the reasons for their popularity. In the summer time they take off the ends and underneath is chicken wire. So the houses are completely open and the birds are comfortable as they can be.

Ideas which seem "ridiculous" and "far-fetched" only ten years ago are a reality today.

And ten years from now I wouldn't be surprised to see most of the poultry in the Middle West raised in larger units on this year-around plan.

Competition is forcing poultry raisers to be better business men. Nobody kept records on chickens ten years ago. Today a lot of people are doing it. And when you begin to keep books you find out you can't afford to let usable equipment stand idle half the time. You find out, too, that a small, reasonable profit per bird adds up to a sizeable sum when you count your chickens by the thousands.

Sincerely yours,

Frank Priebe

Ogle County Farmers Use Contour Strip Cropping to Conserve Soil

Approximately 800 acres of cultivated land is being farmed in contour strips by 25 Ogle county farmers cooperating with the Soil Conservation Service and the Oregon CCC Camp. John F. Hayden, camp superintendent announced today.

Frank Coffman living in Maryland township was the first Ogle county farmer to follow the practice of contour strip cropping. With the assistance of the farm adviser, D. E. Warren, and Soil Conservation technicians Mr. Coffman staked out the first contour strips on his farm years ago according to H. R. Beeson, conservationist.

Alternate Crops

"Alternating meadow and corn strips on my rolling land the past six years has held the water and soil on the fields", Mr. Coffman told a group of 30 farmers visiting his farm.

"Before I started this practice of strip cropping there were many gullies in my cultivated fields too deep to cross with farm implements", Coffman said.

"Leaving the waterways in grass and farming in strips has kept the water on the field and allowed the gullies to heal over. Now I can cross these waterways with my farm implements", Coffman stated.

"I think enough of this contour farming to have approximately 140 acres in contour strips". Mr. Coffman continued.

Forreston Herd Tops Ogle Dairy Group for July

A herd of 12 G. and R. H. cows owned by Lewis DeGraff of Forreston led the Ogle County Herd Improvement association for July with an average production of 1192 pounds of milk and 38.2 pounds of fat on two times a day milking. None of the 12 cows was dry.

The next four high herds were as follows:

Leroy Folkerts, 11 G. H., 1212 lbs. milk, 37.7 lbs. fat; 1 cow was dry.

Clarence Ratmeyer, 12 G. & R. H., 1295 lbs. milk, 37.5 lbs. fat; 1 cow was dry.

Forrest Gillespie, 19 R. H., 1081 lbs. milk, 37.4 lbs. fat; 1 cow was dry.

Lee M. Gentry, 37 R. H., 968 lbs. milk, 36.2 lbs. fat; 7 cows were dry.

The association average for the month was 762 pounds of milk and 27.8 lbs. of fat with 473 cows on test from 27 herds. Sixty of the 473 cows on test were dry. During the month 5 unprofitable cows were sold. One hundred and four cows each produced over 40 lbs. of fat.

The five high cows were as follows:

Buford Holstein Farm, R. H., 1885 lbs. milk, 79.2 lbs. fat.

Lee M. Gentry, R. H., 2040 lbs. milk, 73.4 lbs. fat.

Getzendaner Farm, R. H., 1473 lbs. milk, 64.8 lbs. fat.

J. W. Hemingway, R. H., 1318 lbs. milk, 62.9 lbs. fat.

Andrus and Miller, R. H., 1556 lbs. milk, 62.2 lbs. fat.

During the month we have had a lot of hot weather, flies and maturing pastures. This has caused a marked decrease in production. To keep production up to comply with the Foods and Defense program and to realize the most money from the investment and from good dairy prices, it is now important to give a little extra feed to the cows. This will help maintain their production level.

Pennsylvanians Meet at Yearly Picnic Dinner

Interesting relics—ranging from an old adze used to sharpen stones in a grist mill, candle molds, and a box lantern of brass and glass, to a candle snuffer, a trunk lock, a tin baby plate, and earthenware jugs—formed a unique exhibit at the annual reunion fornative Pennsylvanians, held Sunday at Lawrence park, Sterling.

The Pennsylvania picnic was one of the largest gatherings of the day, and was featured by a basket dinner, a program, and visiting. The Rev. Kenneth C. Bechtel, the retiring president, presided.

John F. Weber related the group's history, and special music was furnished by a quartet composed of Levi M. Kilhefner, Elmer Sollenberger, Mr. Bechtel, and Elmer Albus. A birthday song was sung in honor of the Sunday anniversaries of Samuel B. Mylin and Elam Miller.

Jerry Allen traveled the farthest distance, 300 miles, to attend the picnic. Frank P. Stabler, 91, was the oldest Pennsylvanian attending; and J. E. Ebersole, 76, had lived in Illinois longer than any other person present, having been brought here at the age of six weeks.

Lancaster county, Pennsylvania was represented with 21 former residents. Nine were from Franklin county; five were from Bedford county, and others represented were Cumberland, Adams, York, Lebanon, Northampton, Dauphin, Armstrong, Somerset, Schuykill, Susqeuhanna, Berks, Bucks Center, Westmoreland, Fairfield, Green and Mercer.

New officers elected for the ensuing year were: President, Elmer Sollenberger, Prairieville; vice president, Samuel B. Mylin, Sterling; secretary, Madeline Hess, Sterling; historian, John F. Weber, Sterling. At next year's gathering, to be held the second Sunday in August at the same park, S. M. Perkey of Coleta will review the history of Lebanon county.

Former natives of the state who registered included Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rhodes, Mrs. G. S. Parks, Mrs. Lizzie LeFevre, P. K. Rhodes, Mrs. Raymond Rhodes, and Mr. and Mrs. David H. Ditzler of Dixon, and Milton D. Wisler of Polo.

A Thought For Today

Unto the pure all things are pure.—Titus 1:15.

On the Record

It's nice to understand one another. On the basis of the notes exchanged between the United States and Russia on economic aid to the Soviet Union, there would seem to be no basis for later misunderstanding.

Said Acting Secretary of State Welles:

"This decision has been prompted by the conviction of the government of the United States that the strengthening of the armed resistance of the Soviet Union to the predatory attack of an aggressor who is threatening the security and independence, not only of the Soviet Union but also of all other nations, is in the interest of the national defense of the United States."

Said Ambassador Oumansky, "I wish to emphasize the correctness of the view. . . ."

In short, we help Russia because (even against its will) it happens to be fighting against the principal aggressor who has wrecked the world's peace. So long as such a situation continues, we shall continue to help, but only so long and only to that extent. This leaves no room for misunderstanding.

No, It Does Not Die

It is 16 months since the people of Norway awoke and found the invader already established in their midst. Are those Norse people broken by 16 months of the heavy tread of alien boots in their homeland streets?

It would not seem so. For all of Norway is now under stern martial law following a demonstration in the town of Aalesund. Aalesund is so situated on the Norwegian Atlantic Coast as to be the landing place nearest to Britain which is at the same time farthest from Germany. Evidently the Germans feared what many have expected, that the British might begin their offensive by trying to regain Norway. So the Germans arrested 10 prominent citizens of Aalesund and were taking them away as hostages when a crowd of 5,000 assembled at the pier and tried to free the hostages by force. German troops had to be rushed in to restore order.

This after 16 months of occupation. Freedom is not friendless. Millions await only the raising of a banner, the rallying cry, the weapon placed in the impatient hand.

Little Swindlers—and Big

We hope the rumor isn't true that American swindlers have already taken advantage of the blacklist of axis agents in south America to cheat South American customers. The story is that they advertised in papers down there to sell goods formerly offered by German and Italian firms. Having received the cash for the goods, they decamped.

That's bad, if true. It would reaffirm in many South American minds that the Yanquis are slickers, not to be trusted. You might say offhand that there the nazi system has something on our own; since all such deals under nazism are state-supervised, and the petty crook can't get away with such stuff.

But that's superficial. Compared to the gigantic coffee swindle engineered against Colombia by the nazi government itself, the work of these little American crooks, even if truly reported, is small potatoes indeed.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By Paul Mallon

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Aug. 11—Ickes, having been left at the post in the race for control of the rich new power defense program, called for another race of his own devising in private a few days back.

You will recall, in the first one, Chairman Leland Olds and his Federal Power Commission ran off with the high voltage stakes while Ickes was still in the table. Olds rushed a comprehensive plan for power expansion to the White House before Ickes could there with a substitute. Thereupon Ickes denounced the winner's report as a hodge-podge. He stopped this direct denunciation method of attack after one stab, but it was generally expected he would be back again with something new shortly.

True to form, this past week, Ickes called a meeting of something called the Federal Power Policy Committee, of which he is chairman. He is supposed to have dominated it in the past through its legal counsel, Ben Cohen, although the latest congressional directory says the counsel post is vacant. And Ickes' control may have been vacated as well. Committee Chairman is Olds and the members are government officials, Carmody of Federal Works Agency, Chairman Eicher of SEC, TVA Director Dave Lillienthal, Harry Slattery REA administrator, War Under Secretary Patterson, RFC Chairman Schram, Bonneville dam administrator Paul J. Raver.

As soon as Ickes had called the meeting to order, one of the Ickophants present offered a proposal. (Note—Ickophants is not my word but that of some government officials to describe the little clique of former SEC attorneys who are hovering around Ickes trying to make him power czar so he can Ickesate the power situation as he is now ickesating the oil industry and motorists. It rhymes with sycophant in more than one way.)

The proposition was not very subtle. It was that the Power Policy Committee be made the central agency for the defense power program and that all projects be submitted to the committee for approval and coordination. According to the Ickophants who backed the idea, it would make each of the agencies represented on the committee, (FPC, FWA, TVA, Etc.) agents of the committee. Just incidentally (although no one mentioned this) it would take the chairmanship of the prize away from Olds and give it to Ickes.

Now no official here likes to engage Ickes in controversy, for reasons which must be so widely apparent by now as not to require re-statement, but this was a little too much. One daring member of th committee (not an Ickophant) boldly contended the federal agencies were established by act of congress and therefore it was legally impossible to make them agents of Ickes committee. Set up by statute, they could not be agents of another organization.

On this note, the meeting adjourned "indefinitely", that is, with no future meeting scheduled.

Proponents of the Olds plan, including the OPM defense power experts, retired to await Ickes' third assault which they expect shortly, hoping the next one will show some improvement in cleverness as well as practicability over the first two.

But the problem of how to steal the show from Olds is not going to get any easier for the Ickophants. Olds is supposed to have received RFC money already and is going ahead with his program, construction to start at once.

Thus progresses defense unity in the government calling loudly for unity among its people.

Get set for a stiff further upping of the tax bill in the senate finance committee not only broadening the income tax base but expanding nuisance taxes. Morgenthau's testimony represented a change of administration policy front. Finance Chairman George is agreed.

Fact is the so-called defense expenditures this fiscal year (it began July 1) will be $22,000,000,000. When the house wrote the $3,500,000,000 revenue raising bill, expenditures were calculated at only $19,000,000,000. If the treasury was to carry out its program of raising two-thirds of the money by taxes (rest by borrowing) the senate would thus have to add nearly $2,000,000,000 to the bill. It won't add that much, but the situation will require broadening the base, to bring in new small incomes taxpayers in bulk.

Strangely, the Germans are not bombing the famous large Red hydro-electric power dams which would seem to be the best and easiest industral targets. Here the authorities believe the nazis are deliberately saving these for their own use later, as they saved some roads in Poland.

Nazi plan for administering a conquered Russia is supposed to call for occupation only of the half dozen key industrial cities, power centers, railheads. Rest of the country cannot be garrisoned. If the Germans can destroy the Russian army, they figure they will be reasonably safe from important counter-attacks even if minor segments of the Red army escape east of the Urals.

Highway Engineers Hold Meeting Here

The regular August meeting of the Dixon Chapter of the Illinois Association of Highway Engineers was held at the district highway office in Dixon on Friday evening at 7:30. Plans were made to attend the State Convention of the association, which is to be held in Springfield early in October. It is probable that the local chapter members will attend the one day convention in a body, traveling by bus.

The association has been in existence for several years, but has not previously held a convention. It is thought that such a meeting will bring together the highway engineers from all parts of the state and will serve to make them better acquainted with the problems of others at opposite ends of Illinois and with each other. If this is successful, the convention will undoubtedly be made annual.

The officers of the Dixon chapter are: G. S. McDonald, president; J. M. Martin, vice president; O. B. Gerlach, secretary; S. R. Heindel, treasurer; H. H. Bowen, director (state association) and George Fries, alternate director. V. X. Smiley has been appointed chairman of the Dixon Chapter Convention Committee. He is also sergeant at arms of the local chapter.

● SERIAL STORY

SECRET VOYAGE

BY JOSEPH L. CHADWICK

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Jim Mallory, diver for the Ajax Salvage Company, finds an unwelcome visitor, Mary Larsen, has arrived on ship while he was exploring the wreckage of a sport cruiser, 10 fathoms under water. He believes she is an accomplice of a man who has bribed and threatened him for the location of a mystery ship. But Jim invites Mary to stay for lunch, thinking he may learn the identity of the men. When Mary asks if she may question him, Jim tells her to go back to the man who pays her. She is furious and prepares to leave. Jim tries to get her to talk but she refuses.

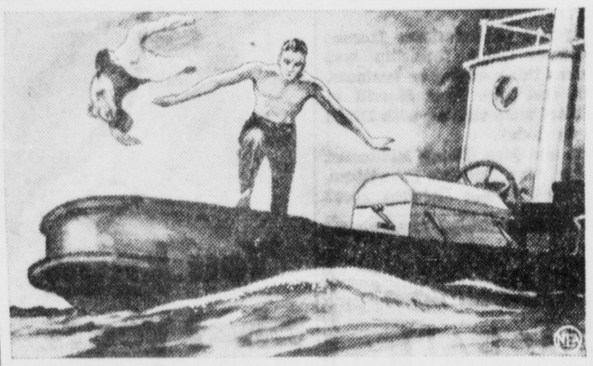
CHAPTER II



He kicked off his shoes when he saw the first falter in her stroke, then ripped off his shirt and dove in when he saw her go under.

THE battered old salvage boat rolled slightly with the surf. From the galley, Blacksheep's rich voice lamented in a spiritual.

Jim Mallory kept his grip on the girl's arm until he saw the fury fade out of her eyes. She rubbed her wrist then as if he had hurt her.

She was pretty, yes. With her copper-tinted hair and wide gold-flecked eyes, she was pretty. And perhaps more than pretty. Jim Mallory looked away from her, thinking he'd better watch his step. Some friend had once told him, "There's Irish blood in you, Jim, and the Irish are sentimental. You'll be a pushover for a pretty face, whether it's the right or wrong one."

He heard this girl, this Mary Larsen, say, "All I wanted to know was where I could find your employer, James Mallory, the owner of the Ajax Salvage Company."

"He has an office."

"He's never there. I was there twice, and I could get no satisfaction out of the office boy. But at least he didn't manhandle me."

"James Mallory won't go for a pretty face any more than I will. Now tell me who sent you here to question me."

He put his pipe between his teeth again, and this time felt in his pockets for matches. He had none there, but a box was on the table. The girl picked up the box, took out and struck a match, and held it out for him. He saw laughter in her eyes as he puffed. He wasn't suspicious until she rose and shoved the table against him. She turned and ran for the companionway, reaching the deck before he recovered from his surprise. He heard the splash as she took to the water, and reaching deck he saw her striking out for shore.

She swam well, but not too well, and he knew before she was half way to shore that she wasn't going to make it. He kicked off his shoes when he saw the first falter in her stroke, then ripped off his shirt and dove in when he saw her go under.

HE couldn't find her at first. That scared him. The water was treacherous here. A wave hit him and took him under. He felt the drag of the undertow before he broke surface.

She went under again before he reached her, but he caught her coming up. She was gasping, choking, but she didn't fight him. He got his arm around her, felt her go limp. She was so free of panic that he thought she might be faking. But then he knew, somehow, that she wasn't like that.

He got her onto the sand, up where it was dry. She lay with eyes closed, shivering, or trembling. There was a car parked up by the road, which he guessed was hers. He went to it and found a beach robe. He took the robe back and covered her.

"I suppose I ought to thank you," she said.

"You ought to know better than to swim after a heavy meal," he said. What he liked about her was her lack of hysterics. And he was sore because he liked anything about her, since she had been put onto him.

She swam well, but not too well, and he knew before she was half way to shore that she wasn't going to make it.

"Shall I drive you to where you're going? Or can you make it?"

"I can make it, after I rest a moment. I haven't far to drive, just to the Hammond estate on Indian Creek."

Jim Mallory nodded. He'd wait with her, but only because she might be more done in than she looked.

He said, "Jeffery Hammond's place?" And when she replied in the affirmative, the first part of the puzzle fell into place. Jeffery Hammond was president of the Hammond Steamship Lines, and the Sonora was a Hammond ship.

JIM MALLORY felt a secret excitement. The Sonora, a freighter, had gone down six months ago in the Caribbean. He had found the location by accident, and had written Hammond about a salvage deal. Hammond had been uninterested.

There were a lot of queer angles to the sinking. Queerest of all was the interest shown by this girl, this Mary Larsen who came from Hammond's house. You couldn't figure that out, Jim Mallory thought. He had guessed she came from the man who wanted to pay him, then threatened him, to reveal the Sonora's location.

That man couldn't have been Hammond, and it didn't seem likely that Hammond had sent this girl to learn the location. As owner of the ship, Hammond wouldn't seek the information in such an underhanded way.

Jim Mallory said, looking down at the girl, "So you come from Hammond's place. But he didn't send you?"

"No. . ." She lay there, watching him with half-closed eyes. Her lashes were incredibly long. "I came on my own. I'll be honest with you. I wanted to find James Mallory, and ask him about a certain ship that was lost at sea."

"Why?"

She didn't answer that.

"Did Hammond know you were trying to find Mallory?"

"No."

"And you wouldn't want Hammond to know what you were up to?"

Her eyes opened wide, meeting his with a disturbing steadiness. "That's right," she said. "Did you have some idea of telling him?"

He didn't answer. He gave her a hand when she started to get up and walked to the car with her after she got into the beach robe. She took a pair of sandals from the car and put them on her feet. She still looked a little shaky. She got into the car and started the motor. It was a big yellow roadster with the top laid back. It looked like a lot of money to Jim Mallory.

"Since you've played hero for me," she said, "I suppose I should forgive you for almost breaking my arm on the tug."

Jim Mallory said, "Thanks." Then, as she released the brake: "Come around to the Ajax Salvage Company's office tomorrow. I think you and James Mallory have a lot to say to one another."

She looked at him for a long moment. Then said, "Thanks, Spike."

"Don't mention it."

He stood there and watched her drive away. He called himself a fool. He could have told her now, as well as tomorrow, that he was James Mallory. He had no good reason for keeping that secret, or for seeing her again. The girl was trouble.

He shrugged, turned, walked to the water. Curly had put the tug in closer to shore. It wasn't much of a swim, this time. . . .

There was a letter awaiting him when he got to the office at Barrows Landing. Harris, who ran the office after a fashion, said it had been delivered by a uniformed chauffeur in a town car. That was unusual enough for Harris to note and comment on. The letter gave him a jolt.

It was an invitation from Jeffery Hammond to spend the week-end at the Indian Creek mansion. To talk business.

Airplane Ferrying Service by Women Considered by U. S.

Washington, Aug. 12—(AP)—Army air force officials were reported giving serious consideration today to the use of experienced women pilots in the army's airplane ferry command for flight work somewhat to that which women handle for the Royal Air Force in Britain.

While no final decision has been made, it was learned that the plan contemplated would assign women pitots ferrying training planes from factories to training centers a task which now occupies the time of regular army fliers who could otherwise be engaged in combat training.

The ferry command, under Col. Robert Olds, was created earlier this year, primarily to handle deliveries of planes destined for Britain from the points of manufacture to ocean shipping or hop-off centers on the east coasts of the United States and Canada.

Another part of the new command's job is to ferry American army planes to airfields throughout the country.

Only combat planes have to be flown for the British, but the task of ferrying ships for the United States forces includes extensive handling of trailers. Since many women fliers have had experience in piloting trainer-type ships, air force officials said women might be able to take over a large part if not all, of this job.

Nation to Need More Storage to Keep 1941 Crops

By FRANKLIN MULLIN

Chicago, Aug. 12—(AP)— The American ever-normal granary, full to almost over-flowing, is being enlarged to all-time capacity to provide storage space for the record 1941 domestic grain supply, estimated at 6.500,000,000 bushels, including new crops and carryover.

This is about 300,000,000 bushels more grain than farmers, elevator and warehouse men handled last year.

To accommodate this bumper yield, estimated at least 50 per cent more valuable than the 1940 crop considering prices above $1 a bushel for wheat and 80 cents for corn in some markets, the greatest amount of new storage space is being added to farm facilities since government steel bins appeared on the rural scene in 1939 to house Uncle's Sam's corn.

Erect Storage Bins

Grain trade reports indicate farmers are erecting all types of pre-fabricated metal and wooden structures to hold the largest amount of grain they ever have attempted to keep off the market. Implement sheds, barn stalls, hog houses, chicken coops and other shelter are being converted and adapted for storage. Portable bins, which can be run right into grain fields, have been popular. In some areas farmers are being urged to use temporary emergency bins of snow fencing and woven wire rather than pile valuable grain on the ground.

Country elevators also are being expanded ,and additions are being built to terminal and subterminal elevators and warehouses.

The need for more farm and city storage arises from the fact that the nation's grain facilities, geared through years of practice to handle bumper crops, have been asked to hold almost a record new harvest as well as a carryover exceeding the volume of any previous season.

Farmers apparently are in no hurry to part with their grain because many believe prices will go higher. Whereas wheat is selling a few cents over a dollar at many terminals, the government will loan as much as $1.15 a bushel here for good grade wheat.

Rains Reduce Threat To Illinois Soybeans

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 12—(AP) An incipient threat of drought damage to Illinois corn anr soybean crops was reported reduced somewhat today by rains which fell last night over most of central and northern Illinois.

The weather bureau reported the heaviest precipitation was at Kankakee where 1.04 inches was measured. Other reports showed Griggsville had 78 hundredths of an inch of rainfall, Urbana .50, Ottawa .59, Freeport .58, Moline .20, Havana .41, and Springfield .40. Southern Illinois reported little or no rain, with four hundredths of an inch falling at Olney, a trace at Effingham and none at Cairo.

Some central and north central Illinois points had only light showers, Bloomington reporting only .07 inches and Peoria .08 inches.

Crop analysts of the federal and state departments of agriculture reported the showers, while of substantial temporary benefit, fell short of the soaking rains needed to bear out earlier prospects of a near-record state corn crop and a record production for soybeans.

Army Air Corps has begun training 16,000 pilots and 160,000 crew and groundsmen.

Leaders in House

the squads, and that release of selectees would mean "that a divission would be wrecked as a team for 6 to 8 months."

First Amendment

The first amendment to the bill was proposed by Rep. Short (R-Mo) on behalf of minority members of the military affairs committee.

It would strike out a declaration of policy asserting that "the national interest is imperiled" and would permit selectees to volunteer for another term of service upon completion of their present mandatory 12-months training.

Speaker Rayburn and other Democratic leaders expressed confidence today that the House would approve an 18-month extension of service.

Rayburn previous had expressed concern over the vote on Senate-approved legislation bu now, he said, "I believe the situation is all right."

It was learned that Democratic sponsors of the extension believed that reports of German successes against Russia and a serious Far Eastern situation would make votes for the legislation.

Rep. Faddis (D-Pa) tlod the House during general debate that he received a letter this morning "warning me to be careful of my political scalp in my vote on this legislation," he shouted.

"My God, what have we come to, that we hear that a member of this body may weigh the security of his nation against his own political future."

Refers To Hoffman

Faddis later told reporters he was referring to a letter Mep. Hoffman (R-Mich) said he had sent his colleagues warning them that "if you don't watch your step, your political hide, which is very near and dear to you, will be tacked on the barn door."

Hoffman said in his statement that there were three reasons—"one bad, two very good" why members should vote against any extension of service.

The "bad one" he said, was preservation of the members' political lives.

"The second reason, and a good one, is that we should keep faith with the drafted men," he said. "x x x Third, every member of this House knows, or he should know, that when this bill was under discussion in the House, we were told by those who sponsored it that it was purely a defense measure."

A group of House Democrats claiming at least 25 votes drafted an amendment to the extension bill which would exempt from service after December 31, 1942, any men called to arms before Congress takes final action on the legislation.

Effort to Win Votes

In a frank effort to win votes, Democratic House leaders agreed to propose today an 18-months limitation on additional army duty instead of holding out for an indefinite extension of service.

Chairman May (D-Ky) of the military committee said he would sponsor that restriction for the pending legislation with the full approval of Speaker Rayburn and Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts whose polls of sentiment have made them doubtful of the outsome.

"If there was any doubt about the vote, this will fix it," May predicted.

However, Senator Nye (R-ND), an opponent of extended service, told reporters his information was "that there is a real chance the House will refuse to permit any extension in the service period."

May said his committee and the leadership also had decided to propose that Secretary Stimson be required to dismiss from training upon request those persons whose retention would work a hardship on wives or other dependents, provided their release did not conflict with the interests of national defense.

Word of the concessions to the formidable opposition became known as a session was arranged two hours earlier than usual—in an attempt to expedite final votes on the controversial legislation and help pave the way for three-day recesses which members hope will begin this week-end.

Tentative plans called for a vote before adjourning tonight but some Republicans said still more time should be devoted to "such an important measure."

Willkie Buying Sixth Farm in Rush Co., Ind.

Rushville, Ind., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican presidential nominee, is buying another Rush county farm.

Willkie, who already owns five farms in the county, disclosed last night that he was about to close a deal for an 80-acre place adjoining some of his other holdings, thus making him the owner of 1,445 acres.

He will end tonight his longest vacation since the campaign when he takes a train to New York. He and his wife have been here two weeks visiting her mother, Mrs. Cora Wilk.

Youth Doing Real Stretch to Pass Policemen's Test

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A man must be at least five feet seven inches tall to become a New York City fireman, so here's what Gino Franceschini, 19, did to extend his 5 feet 5 7-8 inches.

He devised a canvas sling that he strapped under his chin, flung an attached rope over a gymnasium chinning bar, and used it daily in pulling himself off the floor.

He captured some wild bees, rubbed honey on his head and hoped they would sting him and thus raise bumps—but the bees died.

He placed a thin mattress on a floor and lay upon his back for nearly 50 hours "to relax my bones."

Yesterday he had his father and brother carry him stretched out on an improvised stretcher to the New York University gymnasium where the firemen's examination was being held.

Just before he got off the stretcher he struck himself on the head twice with a wooden mallet and raised two sizeable bumps.

The man with the measuring machine informed the youth he had gained 5-8 of an inch but still was a half-inch below standard.

Gino passed the other physical tests, however, and was given conditional approval — provided that he can stretch that other half inch within six months.

Soviet Army

Ukraine, below Kiev, and nazi front-line dispatches asserted German troops also were closing in on the Ukraine capital.

Violent aerial battles were reported raging over the blood-drenched field as soviet warplanes smashed at German infantry and motorized forces and nazi pursuit planes attempted to fight them off. DNB said Luftwaffe fighters bagged 27 Russian planes in the Kiev region alone this morning.

Report Arteries Jammed

All major arteries behind the soviet lines in the southern Ukraine were reported jammed with retreating Red army troops, under flailing attack by German warplanes. The Germans said rail traffic was disrupted, with seven trains derailed or damaged in a single sector.

Berlin dispatches said German troop columns advancing on Kiev were rolling along "well-paved broad highways leading straight to the city".

The Russians made no mention of Odessa. They declared the Red army still holding firm in the Smolensk salient as fighting there went into its 28th day, and in the Bel Tserkov sector 50 miles south of Kiev.

A Moscow communique said the Red army was putting up a stubborn fight against strong German drives on the north and south flanks—in the Soltsi sector 120 miles south of Leningrad and the Uman area midway between Kiev and Odessa.

FAR EASTERN CRISIS

(By The Associated Press)

In the Far East crisis, a series of swift-breaking developments indicated today that events were moving inexorably nearer the explosion-point.

1. In London, authoritative quarters declared bluntly that "if Japan wants war in the Pacific there will be war, if she wants peace there will be peace'.

2. In Tokyo, the militarist newspaper Kokumin said the United States and Great Britain had been warned that any further anti-Japanese pressure would bring about "nothing but the worst situation" and that Japan was bent on pushing ahead with her new order in East Asia.

3. In Melbourne, Australia's Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies called his war cabinet into a second extraordinary session, and opposition Leader J. H. Curtin commented solemnly:

"The time has come when Australia asks loyal and devoted service from her sons. I put it as plainly as I can to every Australian that the safety of this country is at stake'.

U. S. Break Possible

4. In Washington, Senator George, (D-Ga) ranking member of the senate foreign relations committee, said "It definitely is in the range of possibility" that the United States might break off all commercial relations with Japan.

5. In Shanghai, Japanese army spokesman Lieut. Col. Kunio Akiyama declared his government was gravely concerned over the possibility that Russia's big Pacific port of Vladivostok might become "America's first line of defense against Japan".

"With the United States following a virtual policy of encirclement of Japan, it is only natural that Japan is concerned that American arms and munitions might reach the soviet Siberian forces", he said.

Akiyama asserted that current Japanese military preparations in Manchukuo, where upward of 500,000 Japanese troops are reported massing along the soviet frontier, were "purely defensive".

Instalment Credit

fect of the regulations. Eccles said they also would extend to so-called small loan transactions "since this type of credit is so closely related to the purchase of articles of the kind (to be) listed."

This, evidently, was to prevent a consumer who usually buys on the instalment plan from borrowing money from a small-loan firm to finance his purchases in the future, thereby utilizing the same amount of credit.

QUESTIONS: ANSWERS

Washington, Aug. 12.—(AP) — President Roosevelt's order to control instalment credit embraces many items the American public has grown accustomed to buy on time. Here are some questions and answers on it:

Q. What does the order regulate?

A. All use of credit to finance the purchase of consumers' durable goods.

Q. How about cash buying?

A. The order does not interfere with cash buying at all.

Q. Does it affect ordinary charge accounts or just instalment buying?

A. The order covers any kind of consumer credit, but Chairman M. S. Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board, which will administer the law, has said that at first regulations would apply only to instalment credit, and not open charge accounts.

Q. What are consumers' durable goods?

A. Eccles said a list would be issued. It will include automobiles, washing machines, refrigerators, ironers, vacuum cleaners and other articles as yet unnamed.

Q. Does it cover pianos and such things?

A. At first, the regulations probably will exempt such things as pianos and other goods which do not use up a lot of steel and other vital defense materials.

Q. Can a farmer buy a new tractor on instalments?

A. Yes, Eccles said farm implements and other productive tools would be exempted, at least at first.

To Regulate Loans

Q. Will the order interfere with financing a new house?

A. No. Financing of new houses was exempt, but financing or remodeling or improvements on an old house are affected.

Q. Can I go to the bank and borrow a couple of hundred of dollars for general purposes, as I used to?

A. Eccles said that small cash loans were so closely related to consumer purchases that some regulation of such loans would be attempted.

Q. Just how will the order interfere with my purchase of a new automobile, for instance?

A. The Federal Reserve Board probably will make it tougher to finance a new car, by requiring large down payments, large monthly payments, and a shorter time to repay. This also will be the method of control for other items.

Q. Does the order apply to department stores, for instance?

A. Yes. It applies to any kind of store, bank, finance company, or individual who is regularly in the business of lending money or extending credit.

Q. Can I go out tomorrow and buy a washing machine on easy terms?

A. Yes, you can buy anything you want on any terms you can get for possibly several days.

Illinois Peach Crop Ten Times That of '40

Washington, Aug. 12—(AP) — The department of agriculture, basing its figures on August 1 condition, estimates that Illinois 1941 peach production will reach 2,-254,000 bushels, compared with only 200,000 bushels harvested last year.

The state's 1941 pecan crop was estimated at 183,000 pounds, up 39,-000 pounds from last year.

The department said the state's soy bean crop as of Aug. 1 was 90 per cent of normal, with a rating of 75 per cent a year ago.

Suggests Swap

Philadelphia, Aug. 12 — (AP)—A plan whereby women would trade in their old silk stockings when they buy new ones will be presented to the committee on regulations and proposals for the hosiery industry at Washington.

"There's a great possibility of relieving the hosiery shortage if we can reclaim all the old stockings which have been put away in chests and bureaus', said Charles P. Bloome, executive vice president of the Pennsylvania Wearing Apparel Board of Trade which will offer the proposal.

"It's an easy job to reclaim silk from silk stockings", added Bloome. "For years there has existed such a specialty trade—experts who make a living doing that kind of work".

that the Muscovites would have to make considerable withdrawals of their line to new positions farther east.

As pointed out before everything depends on whether they are able to retire in order. A debacle might lead to irreparable disaster.

Moscow admits that the fighting fronts in the Leningrad sector and in the Ukraine have moved eastward. The Nazis claim that the Red retirement in the Ukraine has assumed the nature of a rout, a statement which the Muscovites deny. In any event, the point is that if the Russians can pull their line back in an orderly manner to prepared positions, the struggle may continue indefinitely—a result which ultimately might spell defeat for the nazis, since they lack adequate resources for a long war.

The Japanese are poised for action as the Russo-nazi action develops. Their preparedness, however, is tempered by great caution which may prevent a further upheaval.

Plaster Cast Statue of Gen. Pershing in Versailles Crumbles

Versailles, German-Occupied France, Aug. 11—(Delayed)—(AP)—The statue of General John J. Pershing in LaFayette park tummbled from its pedestal during a violent summer storm today and was smashed into hundreds of pieces.

A statue of LaFayette, facing Pershing on the other side of the highway, remained standing.

The park is between Versailles and Ville-D'Avray.

The equestrienne statue of Pershing was merely a plaster cast, placed on the pedestal in LaFayette park preliminary to the erection of a permanent bronze figure.

The statue of LaFayette opposite the Pershing figure is of bronze. It was the gift of American school children in 1900.

GOVERNOR TO PLAY GOLF HERE

Dixon Country club will be host to Governor Dwight Green on Sept. 2 when the state's chief executive tours the Lincoln Highway as part of a promotion cavalcade for that famous route. The governor will be in Sterling for a program in the morning and will play golf here in the afternoon.

BOWLING RUMORS

First rumblings of the bowling storms which will break over the city next month include news that Myers and Nolan, clothiers, will sponsor a new Thursday night league team. It is said the boys will be garbed in complete new and brilliant outfits (the latest in fashion dictates) and among those who are to kegle with the quintet are Masters Nolan, Myers and Bob Pffaf.

IN SOUTH AMERICA

Nelson Lambert, former Dixon high school football player, is now located at an air base at Georgetown, British Guiana, South America, according to word received by his mother, Mrs. Lee Lambert. Recently Nelson flew to Trinidad to a base hospital where he underwent another operation on his hand. He reports that the weather is extremely hot and the mosquitoes are gigantic.

DIMES FROM DIXON

Of all the dimes which marched to Chicago to pay for those presents to Charlie Root, veteran Cub hurler, last Sunday at Wrigley Field, 75 of them came from Dixon fans. Ward Miller, former Cub player, started the pool here and $7.50 turned out to be the total contribution.

SOFTBALL HERE TONIGHT

And another Tuesday night rolls around—bringing two more league softball games at the Dixon Airport ball yard. Tonight's dish includes an entree of United Cigars vs. Bordens, topping off with the dessert of Nachusa vs. Freemans. In the won and lost department the United has won six of nine, Borden have won five of ten, Nachusa has taken two of 10 and Freemans have won two of nine.

WATCHING THE STARS

Helen Patterson had an unexpected thrill Sunday during a visit to Aurora when she learned that Patty Berg and Eleanor Dudley, two topknotch women golfers, were appearing there in an exhibition match. Helen says the gals can really play golf and she stood amazed at some of their approach shots.

GOING THEIR WAY?

What are you guys with cars doing about taking the Lee county lads to a Saturday major league baseball game in Chicago? Each year, Pete Phalen—manager of the Junior Legion team—promotes a trip for youths under 17 years of age from all over the county and as many boys are taken as there are transportation facilities. If you can donate your car and services to this annual event, call Pete at once and details will be arranged. It's a heck of a good idea and one you should sponsor.

NO DICE

We people who stayed in Dixon last night find it hard to believe that the Ashton softball games could have been rained out. But we're taking the word of Manager Hi Emmert of the Reynolds Wire team who went with his team to keep a scheduled date with an Ashton town team. The Kersten field diamond was a sea of mud.

GOLF VICTORY FOR BETTY

Betty Putnam, Oregon golfing lass and women's champion of the Rockford Country club, defeated Flora Stanbery of the Mauh-Nah-Tee-See club yesterday, 3 to 0, in the women's inter club match at Rockford. The Rockford Country club won the five-club event.

MORE QUALIFYING SCORES

Additional qualifying scores for the Dixon Country club's tournament were turned in to Pro Ralph Stonehouse following the games on Sunday. The latest scores to be recorded are Mark Keller, 77; Floyd Smith 79; Warren Badger 77; Dr. H. A. Lazier 81; L. J. Fontaine 81; Joe Miller 79; George Joyce 74; Ray Wilbur 78. Match play is expected to start next week.

SHADOW ACROSS KNACK TEAM'S PATH

Lee's baseball team, undefeated winners of the Tri-County league pennant, will come to Dixon to play the Knacks at Reynolds Field Sunday afternoon. The Lee team, a fellow member with Dixon for several seasons in the Illinois State League, is piloted by Daniel Kennedy who is anxious to get a crack at his old foe now that prosperity has hit his outfit. Last Sunday the Lee gang whipped Leaf River 16 to 2 in a game called at the end of the sixth frame. That gives you some idea of their power. Included in the Lee lineup are such former West Brooklyn and Walton players as Grove and Appler, each of whom is well known here. Appler is a third sacker and Grove, who played in the all-star game last season, is an outfielder and a great hitter.

STAG EVENT POSTPONED

Ken Detweiler, sports chairman of the Dixon Country club, wants you fellows to know that the stag day events scheduled at DeKalb for Thursday have been postponed indefinitely and will probably be held sometime in September. The road leading to the DeKalb clubhouse is now being paved and other extensive repairs make it best to postpone the match in which local golfers were to have participated.

SOFTBALL AT POLO TONIGHT

They have a couple of league softball games on tap at Polo tonight. In the first contest the Polo Garment meets Brookville and Naylons meet Smith Oils in the nightcap.

Nation's Amateur Golfers to Begin Qualifying Soon

New York, Aug. 12—(AP)—Pursuing 13 players who already have earned their places in the National Amateur golf championship at Omaha, some 600 crack amateur golfers will play 36-hole rounds over 27 different courses Thursday in sectional qualifying rounds.

Although this collection of shotmakers is one of the smallest in years for the amateur, it includes practically all of America's top-flight players. The full entry list, announced today by the United States Golf association, shows that only one of last year's quarter-finalists, George Dawson of Chicaga, failed to enter this year's tourney.

The 28th district sent six players into the fold yesterday when Harry Todd of Dallas, Texas, paced a field of 29 at Denver, Colo. Todd shot rounds of 73 and 69 for a 142 over Denver's Cherry Hills course.

Besides these six, the ones certain of places in the field of 150 at Omaha, August 25-30, are former champions Dick Chapman, Marvin (Bud) Ward, Willie Turnesa, Johnny Goodman, Johnny Fischer and Chick Evans, and Charley Yates of Atlanta, former British amateur ruler, who was given exemption with them. Yates got a free ride into the main tournament because he's in the army.

Ward, Chapman and Fischer were quarter-finalists last year. Two others, Johnny Burke and Wilford Wehrle, will be in the field of 82 shooting for 18 qualifying places Thursday at Chicago in the largest district. Ray Billows, twice runner-up, is among 71 golfers trying for 14 places at New York and W. B. (Duff) McCullough will try to qualify at Philadelphia.

Pairings Are Made For Plum Hollow Golf Tournament

NEW CHAMPIONS ARE CERTAIN IN CLASSES B AND C

Witzleb and Rorer to Meet in Class A Competition

Looking at it from two of the three angles, there are certain to be at least two new golf champions at the Plum Hollow course before very long. Pairings were made at the clubhouse last night for 66 players and the defending champions of Classes B and C were moved up one flight leaving their crowns on the auction block.

Eight players have been paired for the Class A division with one drawing a bye. All of the selections made in drawings out of the hat. Defending Champion Bill Witzleb draws his toughest assignment right "off the bat" when he is paired with Em Rorer, last year's Class B champion. Other Class A pairings included: Babe Martin vs. Earl Pelton; Oscar Witzleb vs. Skeeter Feldkirchner; Darrel Reis vs. his brother, Fred. Ed Worley draws a bye in the first round and will paly the winner of the Reis Brothers' match.

Class B

In Class B there are 16 players for whom pairings were also made by draw. These matches include: Bert Meeks vs. Bob Minnihan; Larry Poole vs. Abe Martin; Paul Reynolds vs. Leo Miller; Lyle Myers vs. Don Bush; Elwin Wadsworth vs. J. Fred Hofmann; James Palmer vs. Bob Axline; "Spud" Ryan vs. Ed Gerdes; Al Wolfe vs. Harold Rorer.

Of these players Elwin Wadsworth was the champion last year of the Class C flight, and has advanced to Class B competition this season.

Several grudge matches are included in the Class C division for which pairings were made according to matching scores. In this class are the following first round matches: George Scott vs. Bill Underwood; Cy Winebrenner vs. Elmer Myers; Russell Brown vs. Charlie Davis; Charles Cramer vs. Ernies Swan; Don Bowers vs. Ned Giannoni; Mark Smith vs. Marion Reese; J. M. Martin vs. Harvey Schofield; W. J. McMullen vs. Frances Duffy; Pat McDonald vs. Harry Talmadge; Ralph Barlow vs. Dan Strub; Howard Perry vs. John Bovey; George Merriman vs. George Bishop; L. V. Slothower vs. Ed James; Rube Winebrenner vs. Clarence Strub; Clyde Yount vs. Lee Rintoul; Jim Reiter vs. Clarence Vroegindewey; O. K. Welty vs. M. M. Memler; Dick Wyant vs. Dr. Legner; Harold Glessner vs. Walt Klein; Roy Glessner vs. Otto Witzleb. Jack Marshall is as yet unmatched.

All entry fees for the above players have been made and it is expected that about 10 more golfers, most of whom are now on vacation and have been unable to register, will complete the final list. All additional players are reported to be of the Class C division.

Tourney Rules

All competition is according to the rules of match play and all first round events must be played by next Sunday night. Players are urged now to contact their opponents and arrange matches as soon as possible. Regular play up to the finals must be for 18 holes. Finals in all three classes will be for 36 holes.

A trophy will be given to the champions of each division and prizes also go to the runnersup and third place winners of each flight. A total of forty other prizes will be given in competition which includes special handicap events and blind bogey.

Cardinals' Outfielder To Be Out for Season

St. Louis, Aug. 12—(AP)—Enos Slaughter, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, has a broken left clavicle and will be out for the rest of the season.

Slaughter ran into a wall in the second inning of the second game with Pittsburgh Sunday as he and Terry Moore both tried for a long fly which Moore nabbed.

It was thought he was only bruised until X-rays Monday by Robert F. Hyland disclosed the fracture.

The club, in a virtual tie with Brooklyn for first place in the National League, has been beset by injuries all season. For only five games was every man on the team able to play.

Slaughter was batting .311.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

GAMES LAST NIGHT

Farm Bureau 16; Peats 15.
Brookville 14; Naylons 4.

"B" for Brooklyn and Brookville; "C" for Cardinals and Coopers, and you have two of the hottest baseball races in the nation today. One, of course, concerns that major league struggle among the Nats, but the other is much nearer home and involves the Polo softball league's second round penant race.

Last night the Brookers won their nightcap game in a postponed series fith Naylons, 14 to 4, to share the league's top rung with Coopers, another second round undefeated club.

In the opener last night the Farm Bureau handed Peats the first defeat of the round in a close entanglement, 16 to 15. Heavy hitters for the winners were N. Brown with four for five and Typer with three for five. On the losers' side of the ledger were such slugging artists as Holby with three or five and Paap with three for four. Holby counted a home run in the last inning.

Although the Peats scored 11 runs in a flashy third inning, it was the consistent pecking away at the score by the Farm Bureau which put the game in the ice box.

Winning chucker was Woodin of the Farmers who allowed 12 hits, waked five and struck out three. C. Bowers was on the mound for the losers and he permitted 14 hits, walked seven and struck out none.

Eleven errors by the losers and eight by the winners made the game a ragged affair.

Second Game

In the curtain-dropper the Brookville team took a 10 to 0 lead before the Naylons scored their first run in the fifth inning.

H. Linker and Ran Linker of the winners had a perfect night at bat, each with three hits in three trips to the plate and other heavy lumbermen on the squad included R. Linker with three for four and Schryver and Sturtwant each with two in four.

Pitcher Unger's home run in the fifth was the Naylon's first score of four tallies.

Hess was the winning pitcher and he permitted only six hits, walked one and struck out four.

Unger allowed 10 hits, walked eight and fanned four.

CAPTAIN OF ILLINI GRID TEAM TO BE INELIGIBLE

Champaign, Ill., Aug. 12—(AP)—University of Illinois football prospects, which depend on development of a sturdy line, were dimmed further today after announcement that Joe Turek, a guard and selected as captain of the 1941 Illini eleven, would be ineligible.

Turek had attended summer school trying to make up his scholastic deficiencies but the effort failed.

Sox-Browns Slugfest Turns into Battle

A 14-9 slugfest between the White Sox and St. Louis Browns in Chicago turned into a near riot when Joe Kuhel of the Sox was hit with a pitched ball in the seventh inning and tangled with Pitcher Elden Auker of the Browns (No. 18). Players of both teams rushed into the fight and three were banished from the game. (NEA Telephoto.)

Play Day Event Here Is Huge Success Monday

A total of 140 children enrolled for the play day events at John Dixon park yesterday where supervised activities were held under the guidance of Director Mary Trombold and her staff. Children came from all over the city to participate in the very successful program.

In the morning the big feature was the baseball game between the "Dement Dodgers", a junior playground team and the Playground All-Stars, and advanced club. The Dodgers won the event with an 11 to 10 score and the winning pitcher was Jack Leer who allowed 11 hits in the nine innings. Losing hurler was Hargraves who permitted only nine hits, but errors by his mates resulted in the defeat.

A "talent show" was staged in the afternoon in which children showed their abilities in an impromptu performances. First prize went to Donna Hargraves for her tap dance and song. Johnny Witzel won second for his solo, "Oh, Johnny," and third prize went to Donald Peterson for his fine ability at twirling. Junior Nehring won fourth for singing, America, I love You." CONNIE MACK LOOKS AROUND TO BUY COUPLE OF PITCHERS

Philadelphia, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Connie Mack, who laid out some $200,000 for players during the winter of 1939-'40, is again ready to take the rubber off his bankroll in an effort to make the Athletics a pennant contender.

"The old gentleman" wants, primarily, a couple of good pitchers who can be depended upon.

"Everybody knows we need pitching," he asserted yesterday as the A's took the day off after dropping three straight to the Yanks.

"Otherwise, I think we have a pretty fair team right now. But I'm going to do something about the pitching."

Connie needn't worry about where the money is coming from. The A's already have played to nearly 500,000 at Shibe Park and from all indications this will be their best year in the front office since they won the pennant in 1931.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Brietz)

New York, Aug. 12—(The Special News Service)—Hawaii is bidding for the 1942 national swimming championships, and no wonder. The boys left St. Louis yesterday heading directly for Joe Cook's to get some of those reasons why they didn't imitate four (or more) Hawaiians . . . . The boys Bruins hockey club may be sold before the end of this month . . . Neil Boardman, a music professor at the U. of South Dakota, brought three pacers 2,000 miles to race at Roosevelt raceway. . . From down beats to hoof beats eh . . . The Eddie Blunt-Bill Poland fight August 27 at Washington is the longest scheduled heavyweight fight in two decades . . . It's for 25 rounds, and the worst part is it might even last that long . . . Here's one (and only one) time the Phillies are first. Danny Litwhiler was the season's first National Leaguer to sit a homer in every park in the circuit.

Doing it up Brown—

San Antonio baseball writers, who were a bit disgrountled that their club didn't get more help from the St. Looey Browns, have learned why. . . When Carthage (Mo.), the Browns' other farm, wired: "We need two pitchers, two infielders, two outfielders," back came another wire: "So do we."

No Service Charge—

The response to last week's appeal for plans to stage army camp football games has been gratifying . . One of the best comes from Bill Scanlan, of the LaCrosse (Wis.) Tribune and the Notre Dame publicity dept., who points out the first crying need is for equipment, and suggests that colleges contribute what they have left from last season . . . Ford Frick says that major league clubs will play a lot of exhibition games at the big southern army camps next spring. They won't make any money on them but it's a swell way to build up future trade. . . . The draft and defense jobs have taken so many bi-state league umps that utility players may be called on to work some games.

Today's Guest Star—

Jack Carberry, Denver Post: "Cards or Dodgers, Dodgers or Cards— either should be the Yankees' oyster. And October has an 'R' in it."

Short Shots—

Dick Wakefield ($45,000, remember?) is satisfied with the Piedmont League as a place to start, but he doesn't like those long bus rides . . . Out at Madison, Wis., the other day Golfer Clarence Garoville put his tee shot on the sixth hole six inches from the pin; Rolled his seventh-hole drive within five inches and then aced the eighth . . . Ace Parker's busted gam has mended so quickly that he'll be on hand to greet the football dodgers when they start training tomorrow and may play in the opening game . . . The other American League clubs can't keep hating the Yankees. In a week's road tour, the Yanks drew 123,000 customers and had three sellout crowds . . . Mike Jacobs will ask $30 for ringside seats for Louis-Nova . . . That's the highest price since the Baer-Louis affair, which wasn't worth it either.

Princeton Horses Wins Harness Race at Fair

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Bill Gallon will have a chance to show Illinois state fairgoers today the speed with which he won the Hambletonian last week when he trots in the 50th annual Illinois Review Futurity.

R. H. Johnston's brown colt heads a field of 10 of the country's best three-year-old trotters competing for the $1,000-added purse. Among those racing against Bill Gallon will be two other Hambletonian entries—H. M. Parshall's Perpetual and the Hanover Shoe farm's Lucy Hanover.

Entered in the Review Futurity pace will be Harry Short's Bell Boy, whose time of 2:01¾ in 1940 at Lexington, Ky., was the best recorded last year; L. C. Sprague's Verl Cash and several others.

The Illinois Review Futurity association, founded half a century ago by John C. Bauer of Chicago, will distribute $10,000 in purses this year, the biggest in its history.

Opened Yesterday

The Grand Circuit program opened at the state fair yesterday with a straight heat victory in the $1,200 2:24 pace for Punchinello, brown stallion owned by Thro Brothers, Mankato, Minn. He won in 2:04, 2:09 and 2:06.

Balbo Siskiyou, owned and driven by Charles Rumley, Sr., of Princeton, Ill., won the Illinois breeders futurity pace for two year olds in straight heats, the first in 2:01¾, the fastest time of the day.

Ruth Spencer from the Midwest stables at Du Quoin, Ill., maintained her unbeaten record by winning both heats in the breeders futurity trot.

The 2:12 trot for Illinois owned horses was won by Jane Carroll, owned by Darrell Holman of Mt. Carroll, in a fourth runoff heat. Guy Cleveland's Ouster Volo, from Carmi, Ill., was second. Pat W., owned by Midwest Stables of Du Quoin, won the 2:12 pace for Illinois-owned horses in three straight heats.

CEDAR RAPIDS IS TEAM WHICH EVANSVILLE MUST FEAR MOST

By The Associated Press

With a record of seven straight victories, Cedar Rapids is the team that Evansville must fear in the chase for the Three-Eye League pennant.

Cedar Rapids broke forth with an eight-run assault in the eighth winning against Madison last night and added another in the ninth to win 9 to 5. Evansville maintained its three-game lead, however, by trimming Decatur, 6-4. The losg dropped the Commies to fourth place.

Springfield took over third position in the standings by splitting a doubleheader with Moline. The Brownies scored four runs in the ninth inning to win the second game, 7 to 4, after dropping the opener, 4 to 1. Waterloo climbed into a tie for sixth place by conquering Clinton, 13 to 2.

DODGERS, CARDS CONTINUE CLOSE PENNANT BATTLE

Still Only 3 Points Separate Teams of National League

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

A couple of years ago people were poking fun at the National League as a big minor circuit but it knocked out the rival American league in two all-star games and the 1940 World Series and this summer has been giving the fans the only run for their money under the big top.

The battle between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals for the pennant in the senior circuit is as exciting as the "Perils of Pauline" with the buzz saw getting closer at the end of every installment.

The Dodgers bashed down hard on the New York Giants yesterday, 15-7, and the St. Louis Cardinals conquered the Chicago Cubs, 7-5, to continue their neck-and-neck race with the Dodgers still in front by the slender margin of .003.

Kirby Higbe pitched and batted the Dodgers to their triumph, his 16th. He checked the Giants on seven hits.

Seven Runs In First

The Dodgers took charge in the first inning with seven runs, three of them on Ducky Medwick's 15th homer and two on a single by Higbe with the bases loaded. They rounded up six more in the sixth when Higbe doubled with the bases filled. In addition Brooklyn's 17-hit offensive included two other singles by Higbe and Dolph Camilli's 22nd homer.

The Cardinals likewise nailed down their victory early, taking a 6-1 lead in the first four frames, but it took a magnificent relief pitching performance by Harry Gumbert to save it for them. In the fifth Lon Warneke was pelted for successive home runs by Phil Cavarretta, Stan Hack and Bill Nicholson. Then Gumbert hurried on the scene and pitched no-hit ball for 4 2-3 innings.

In the only other National League contest the Phillies whipped the Boston Braves, 6-3, for Boom Boom Walter Beck's first victory of the year. The tail-enders collected 15 hits.

Yankees Are Shut Out

The listless New York Yankees, so far in front of the American League that few people pay any attention to them, were shut out, 8-0, by the Boston Red Sox as Jack Wilson pitched four-hit ball for his first complete game of the season. Sparked by Manager Joe Cronin's three-run homer, the Red Sox splurged for six runs in the fourth.

Boston made 14 hits. Dominic DiMaggio supplied three, including a homer, and was hit twice by pitched balls. The first time it was on the back and the second time on the head. He was not seriously hurt.

The wave of "beanings" during the week-end brought on a fight as part of the doubleheader between the St. Louis Browns and the White Sox at Chicago. In the first game Elden Auker smacked Joe Kuhel on the shoulder with a pitch. One word led to another and then fisticuffs. Players of both teams rushed out and Alan Strange of the Browns joined in the sparring. All three were banished.

The White Sox went on to win, 14-9, with Luke Appling batting in five runs in leading a 14-hit attack. The Browns captured the nightcap, 10-3, with a 17-hit assault for George Caster's first victory of the year.

Paid Gate Reduces Attendance at Ill. State Fair Monday

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 12—(AP)—Illinois State Fair attendance had dropped sharply today as a result of the first operation of the no pass rule.

Manager William V. Ward reported approximately 40,000 persons paid their way into the fairgrounds Monday, when the gate admission charge was applied, compared with estimated attendance of 70,000 on the same day of last year's fair.

Officials pointed out, however, that yesterday's attendance represented paid admissions whereas no gate count, on which an accurate comparison could be based, was taken in previous years.

They cited also that 40,000 paid admissions more than quadrupled the gate "take" for the entire 1940 fair. Records showed that last year, out of an estimated attendance of 912,000 for the nine-day fair, less than 9,000 paid to get into the grounds. The rest saw the fair on passes distributed freely throughout the state.

Davies Says John Cudahy Is Being Used as Nazi Tool

Los Angeles, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Joseph Edward Davies, former ambassador to Belgium and Russia, criticizes John Cudhay, former ambassador to Belgium, for advocating that the United States initiate a peace move.

"John Cudhay is being used as a stool pigeon, unconsciously, for the man who would destroy Christianity," Davis told a Town Hall meeting yesterday. "I say this with sorrow."

Cudhay suggested the peace move in an address in Milwaukee Sunday.

Davies was to have spoken on Russia but devoted half of his talk to a reply to Cudhay.

Peace Talk Trojan Horse

"Hitler has broken his word again and again," he said, "and now thinks he can kid us again. x x x This talk of peace is nothing but a Trojan horse.

"Is Hitler, flushed with victory, likely to make a peace on any other terms but those that would be to his own advantage? Has my old friend John Cudhay been taken for a ride? For a year and a half Hitler has been doing his utmost to project a peace. When one is successful it is to his advantage to propose peace, to get a respite before he takes the next victim x x x.

"To talk of peace with Hitler now is to sell out individualism in this world. If Britain falls, if Russia falls, what are our prospects? Do you think we'd had a Chinaman's chance?"

Mediation Board in Effort to Bring Ry. Wage Dispute to End

Washington, Aug. 12—(AP)—The National Railway Mediation Board today invited representatives of the railroads and railroad labor organizations to a mediation conference in Chicago Aug. 14.

The board offered its services to avert a strike after the carriers and labor organizations had failed to agree on the unions' request for wage increases for approximately 1,150,000 workers.

Negotiations have been in progress in Chicago since July 24.

The five operating brotherhoods, including engineers, firemen, trainmen and switchmen are seeking pay increases of 30 per cent for some $50,000 employes in train service.

Fourteen of the so-called non-operating railroad labor organizations, representing approximately 800,000, have asked for wage increases ranging from 30 to 34 cents an hour.

Food Reserves of as Much Import as Munitions Says FDR

President Says Reserve Foods Needed Against Unseen Emergency

Washington, Aug. 12.—(AP)—President Roosevelt declared in a letter made public today by Secretary Wickard that the country needed food reserves "to meet emergencies which can as yet be only dimly foreseen."

Addressed to the secretary, it was in acknowledgment of a report on the agriculture department's program to encourage production of pork, dairy products, poultry products, and other foods. It was dated July 25.

Roosevelt said that in this time of crisis, "food is a weapon against Hitlerism just as much as munitions and food will continue to be a weapon in all efforts toward insuring a more orderly, prosperous and peaceful world."

He recalled that in the first World war it became necessary to establish a food administration, but added that in this war he saw no reason to believe such an agency would be needed.

He said agriculture was meeting the situation much more satisfactorily by increasing production in an orderly was "so that our own needs and the needs of our friends can be met without causing scarcity or unduly high prices."

Farmers Assured

He voiced a belief that farmers could rest assured that they would receive fair prices for their products and would be protected after the crisis ended.

Wickard disclosed that at the president's suggestion he had appointed the presidents of four leading farm organizations as a committee on agricultural production for defense and related matters.

They were James G. Patton, president of the Farmers' Educational & Cooperative Union of America; Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Louis J. Taber, Master of the National Grange; and Judge John D. Miller, president of the National Cooperative Council.

The agriculture department said the committee would meet regularly with the secretary and other officials to aid in the defense production effort and "to give assistance in other matters where the experience and resources of the farm organizations will prove helpful in meeting defense needs."

With 31 state forests covering 5,338,238 acres, Minnesota ranks first in area of state-owned forest lands.

City Judge Will Take Action to Get Salary Discontinued by Ruling

Harrisburg, Ill., Aug. 12—(AP)—City Judge Harry J. Flyanders of Eldorado said today he would institute legal action in an attempt to compel the state to pay his salary of $150 per months which was discontinued recently after a ruling by Attorney General George F. Barrett.

Barrett's ruling said the state no longer had to pay the salary because Eldorado's population dropped below 5000 in the 1940 census.

The judge contended he was elected for six-year term which expires in October, 1945, and was protected by statute which provides that "fees, salary or compensation of no municipal officer who is elected or appointed for a definite term of office, shall be increased or diminished during such term."

He said if the state continues to refuse to pay his salary, he would file suit for a writ of mandamus in Sangamon county circuit court at Springfield in an attempt to force payment.

Women Urged Not To Pay More for Hosiery

Washington, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Saying that the public was being "gouged" by unjustifiable price increases, Miss Harriet Elliott, associate price administrator, urged women today to refuse to pay higher prices for silk hosiery.

"Many of the nation's retailers and wholesalers," she said in a statement, "have patriotically refrained from raising the price of silk products on the basis of the raw silk shortage. But many others are deligerately taking advantage of the situation to reap windfall profits for themselves and do an injustice to their customers by raising prices although the cost of their existing stocks has not changed in the slightest."

Miss Elliott advised women to buy hose for current needs only, because, she said, production of rayons, cottons and nylons suitable for hosiery was being expanded.

Danger of Shortage of Coal Still Exists

Washington, Aug. 12—(AP)—The bituminous coal division told Secretary of the Interior Ickes Monday that there still was cause for serious concern over the possibility of a coal shortage.

In making public the division's report, Ickes said that coal transportation facilities continued to be tight, with little margin of safety to absorb the shock of any substantial extra burden or emergency which might arise. He added that shipments to Great Lakes ports were approximately 21 per cent lower than last year while shipments via coastwise vessels to New England were approximately the same as a year ago despite increased coal demands.

The secretary said delivery of coal to consumers' bins showed a 14 per cent gain over a year ago.

The report said that coal was being produced at an average rate of 10,600,000 tons weekly, greatly in excess of last year, but that heavy seasonal industrial increases might arise during the fall.

Queen Elizabeth Gives Thanks to Americans in Radio Talk Sunday

London, Aug. 12—(AP)—Queen Elizabeth, broadcasting to the United States for the first time in twoyears, Sunday night thanked American women for their aid to Britain fighting in a cause she said was common to both nations.

"We shall not forget your sacrifice", she said. "The sympathy which inspires it springs not only from our common speech and the traditions which we share with you but even more from our common ideals.

"To you tyranny is as hateful as it is to us; to you the things for which we will fight to the death are no less sacred, and, to my mind at any rate, your generosity is born of your conviction that we fight to save a cause that is yours no less than ours—of your high resolve that however great the cost, however long the struggle, justice and freedom, human dignity and kindness shall not perish from the earth".
